

No. 263 May 2009

Is the Bonus Tax Unconstitutional?

By Richard A Epstein

8 May 2009

Two basic principles that animated our Constitution appear to have no traction today. One holds that property is the guardian of every other right. The second asserts that voluntary exchange is the source of general peace and prosperity. Today's Supreme Court looks to neither principle for guidance.

Click here to read article.

This article was first published in the Wall Street Journal online on 26 March 2009.

Articles in the Perspectives series plus a large library of books, studies, speeches, articles and DVDs on a wide range of public policy issues can be found at nzbr.org.nz.

Related studies and commentary:

A Primer on Property Rights, Takings and Compensation

A report published by Business New Zealand, Federated Farmers, the New Zealand Business Roundtable and the New Zealand Chambers of Commerce

September 2008

By Bryce Wilkinson

[\[Full text\]](#)

2008 Budget Personal Tax Package

A report published by the New Zealand Business Roundtable

February 2008

[\[Full text\]](#)

Personal Income Tax in New Zealand: Who Pays and is Progressive Taxation Justified?

A report published by the New Zealand Business Roundtable

April 2005

By Sinclair Davidson

[\[Full text\]](#)

Takings, Givings and Bargains: Multiple Challenges to Limited Government

A report published by the New Zealand Business Roundtable

October 2004

By Richard A Epstein

[\[Full text\]](#)

Constraining Government Regulation

A report published by the New Zealand Business Roundtable, Federated Farmers, the Auckland Regional Chamber of Commerce and Industry and the Wellington Regional Chamber of Commerce

November 2001

By Bryce Wilkinson

[\[Full text\]](#)

Economics and the Judges: The Case for Simple Rules and Boring Courts

A report published by the New Zealand Business Roundtable

June 1996

By Richard A Epstein

[\[Full text\]](#)

If you have received this email from a friend or colleague and wish to subscribe, please click here.

If you wish to unsubscribe from the Roundtable mailing list, please click here.