

No. 86 MARCH 2007

Show on the road

The following article by Robert Poole was published recently in the Wall Street Journal online.

27 February 2007

Lou Dobbs recently griped on his popular CNN show that parts of the Interstate highway system "built with your tax dollars are now being sold to the highest bidder. And incredibly, it's being done with the federal government's encouragement." Worse, according to America's loudest economic nationalist: "Some of the leading bidders: foreign investors." Click here to read article.

Related studies and commentary:

Tackling Congestion in Auckland, The Auckland Road Pricing Evaluation

A submission by the New Zealand Business Roundtable

April 2006

[\[Full text\]](#)

Reducing Barriers to Investment in Infrastructure

A speech to Conferenz Infrastructure Conference

30 November 2004

By Roger Kerr, New Zealand Business Roundtable

[\[Full text\]](#)

Options for the Reform of Roothing in New Zealand

A report prepared for the New Zealand Business Roundtable

June 1993, reprinted April 1997

By Chris Meads and Bryce Wilkinson

[\[Full text\]](#)